RE: Film Crew From "Wall Street Warriors" Returning Next Week

On Monday, October 13 and Tuesday, October 14, the film crew for the television program "Wall Street Warriors" will return to shoot additional footage of the trading floor for its upcoming fourth season, which will feature CBOE and the Chicago trading community. We believe this will be the crew's final visit to CBOE.

The filming will take place primarily in the SPX and VIX trading crowds, although the crew may go to other areas of the floor as well. As was previously the case, a member of CBOE's Corporate Communications staff will supervise the crew in order to minimize any undue distractions.

We truly appreciate your cooperation in this project: we have had the opportunity to view the first three episodes of the series and are very pleased with the results thus far. The footage of CBOE is terrific, capturing the vibrancy and intensity of life on the trading floor and casting the Exchange in a very positive light.

We think you will enjoy the shows as well, and we will send you a reminder when the 2009 series begins airing next March on the high-definition MOJO cable channel. If you have any questions about the program or next week's filming, please contact CBOE Corporate Communications at (312) 786-7493.
