

CBOE Information Circular IC12-097 C2 Information Circular IC12-018

Date: November 15, 2012

To: CBOE and C2 Trading Permit Holders

From: Trading Operations

RE: Holiday Listing Schedule for Weekly Expirations

New Weekly Expirations Being Added on Wednesday, November 21, 2012

Chicago Board Options Exchange, Incorporated (CBOE) and C2 Options Exchange, Incorporated (C2) will be closed on Thursday, November 22, 2012 in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday. As a result:

- Short Term Option Series (Weekly Options) with an expiration date of November 30, 2012 will first be listed for trading on Wednesday, November 21, 2012 and the last trading day for these Weekly Options will be Friday, November 30, 2012; and
- P.M.-settled End-of-Week options on the S&P 500 Index listed on CBOE (ticker: SPXW) with an expiration date of December 28, 2012 will first be listed for trading on Wednesday, November 21, 2012 and the last trading day for that expiration will be Friday, December 28, 2012.

Contact Information

Questions regarding this circular may be directed to Omarr Woodhouse, Trading Operations, at (312) 786-8047 or to Jenny Klebes-Golding, Legal Division, at (312) 786-7466.